With an elegance that astounds and rural calm that seems to stretch forever, this Millenium-built four-bedroom home claims its place on a beautifully curated hectare - yet reads like a last-century legacy.

If gardens are the way to your heart, then this self-sufficient slice of abundance - a swift, scenic drive from Hahndorf - will win you over with its aptitude for the sweetest country existence.

Beyond the circular driveway, sustainability comes courtesy of a bore, 30-panel solar system, prolific orchard, chicken coop, and fastidiously zoned, irrigated veggie beds. In support - a detached double garage (with panels above), and versatile utility shedding.
